The Workshop began with the invocation of God with a prayer song by college choir. Dr. A. Meenakshi Sundararajan the principal of NACCAS welcomed the gathering. The secretary of NACCAS Rev. Fr. Dr. M. Eckermens Michael introduced the chief guest Most Rev. Alwyn D Silva, Auxiliary Bishop of Bombay, CCBI Chairman of Commission for Ecology, and the special guest Rev. Fr Joseph Gonsalves Executive Secretary FABC, Office of Human Development Climate Change Desk. The chief guest introduced “Laudato Si” (praise be to god) the second encyclical of Pope Francis for the whole human community. He summarized 7Cs Continuity, Collegiality, Conversion, Conversation, Care for Creation, Citizenship and Contemplation.

He highlighted St. Francis of Assisi as the patron Saint of Ecology. Humans are selfish and the one who protest environmental crisis is considered as Anti- National. He proposed us to ponder whether development is for few or many. It is must to leave a healthy earth for our future generations. And also, he says that, we must change our mind and heart to take care of creation. We must treat every creature with tenderness and love.

Most Rev. Fr. Dr Alwyn D Silva points out the importance of living one among the nature. We must talk to the Flora and Fauna and understand their plight. He focuses on caring the creation by using the modern technologies in an appropriate way. He mentions humans are the citizens of the whole world. They have to recognize the hand of God in nature. Every creation belongs to God. He quoted "think of the earth it is life". He concluded that we must always praise the creation of God. Then the Chief Guest and the Special Guest Planted two Saplings as the memory of this event.

Rev. Fr. Joseph Gonsalves presented a talk on "Climate Crisis" through visual and audio aid. He pointed out that the humans are plundering earth by storing unnecessary goods for comfort and luxury. Destructing of one tree is the destructing of whole echo system. He distributed the copies of Laudato Si to the staff members and explained the Methodology used in the book. He highlighted the chapter "Water Crisis". He showcased water experiment which proved that water is alive and has memory. The whole world of which only 1% is in the form of fresh water, if this crisis prolongs by 2040 for sure a world war for water will arise. Water is the basic universal right. A session of group discussion on the remedial's to conserve water was carried out. All the faculties actively participated and came out with various solutions to conserve water. The session ended with distribution of certificates to all 110 faculties. Dr.Rooban Raja Sekhar HOD of Department of English propose vote of thanks and the workshop concluded with National Anthem.
